school, reflecting longstanding gaps in access, equity and quality.

According to details published by The Nation, the out-of-school population also includes 1,084 transgender children, underscoring concerns about inclusive education. The provincial breakup highlights stark disparities: Punjab has 9.6 million children out of school, Sindh 7.8 million, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa 4.9 million and Balochistan 2.9 million. Even Islamabad faces a significant challenge, with 89,000 children aged 6 to 16 not enrolled. The PIE report warns that the number of out-of-school children is increasing by 20,000 every year, prompting urgent calls for government action. Education experts say swift and coordinated measures are needed to address barriers to formal schooling.
